report. I do hope you enjoy it. Let's

Kind regards...

Initial impressions

You are very active, outgoing, loyal and sensitive all in one package. You like to become involved, and/or in charge of anything you do with a determination and the will to express yourself as and when the need arises be it through physical, mental or emotional means.

You have an amazing view of the world, as though you were born with another sense that helps you understand more than the average person does. Even from a young age you would have begun to understand a great deal but your parents and other elders did not understand or appreciate your awareness. Should more people have the quality, the World would become a more harmonious place for all.

Life is for living, for developing and growing with the ways of the World. It is your belief that if people could only see the mess they make of matters, which at times are trivial, and how they make mountains out of molehills, they may stop and 'think' about their actions, and the effects they have on other people's lives.

You have an honest heart too and believe that every person has a place in this world and a right to their lot and able to do what they are suited to. But more so, you believe every person has the potential to rise to the top in any field they find themselves in, and it is their duty to do so.

You are not a typical God follower as such, even if you do have aspirations to follow that path, but you are a person who understands that thinking at every level is paramount, that business and leadership are a necessary element of life and that real justice and real life rewards are part of the point of being on this planet. If you follow these principles, you will be well loved by many and reach a comfortable level of living.

However, be warned; should circumstance, or some aspect of your character, provide a way to gain more from life than is rightfully yours, and you take from others for your own personal gain - at their expense, even if it is legal, you will pay the price for any injustice you create. So remember, you were born for great things, and in so doing, you will be rewarded beyond your expectations.

How people see you

You are often seen as quiet in comparison with others and a little reserved in nature. You can be very particular about the way you like things done even when you are an integral part of a team. However, belonging to a group or working in an area where you have a job to do that requires patience, a need for accuracy and where an eye for detail is important, you have these qualities in-built.

You will often be able to see things that others have overlooked, for when it comes to making sure that all is in place and accounted for, you are the one for the job. However, your downside, if it is to be noted, may indicate you are too fussy and slow without generating results within a reasonable time.

You are generally more gentle than others and sometimes you may shrink away from coarse language or unsavory people and situations. You have a refined state of mind and do not necessarily enjoy things that are violent or inappropriate. Irrespective of this, You are well suited to work where accounting, stock taking, or any field of endeavor that requires an eye for detail is called for or is sought after.

Your Profile Overview

You are generally a hard working and practical person, suited to technical matters with an understanding of how things work. You are sensible and enjoy hands on approach to matters you are involved in. You can be serious about your career and like things in order, but there is a very creative side to you and when you are involved with things that strike a chord with your interests, your initiative and ability to lead the way stands out.

Many times you have come across a problem or obstacle in your career, yet you have taken the time to think things through. In so doing, you have an amazing ability to come up with solutions and thereafter adapt, and change, as matters unfold to get the desired result.

Your Work Style

Your determination, hard working and perfectionism to do things just right, make you a sought after person in any specialist field. Along your life journey, you will have come across many people with a great deal of sound knowledge and expertise. From this you are able to apply yourself and achieved what you set out to do. Because of your unique style and application, you are quite a versatile person to have around where the development and application of ideas are sought in specialised or high end industries.

Your Abilities

You have initiative, lateral thinking, forethought, and apply yourself to the point where you may keep going until the job or project is done to your satisfaction. This may make is hard on others but just as demanding, if not more, for yourself.

With your initiative, problems can be solved; if there is a solution. If not, then it may not take too long before you make the call to drop everything, and tackle a problem from a completely different angle. Irrespective of how you go about something, your ability to chop and change comes naturally to you and may, at times, save the day. However, take your time when necessary as carelessness can be your undoing, so plan and apply yourself to get things done properly.

Any occupation in any field that entails technical skills, music, sports and leadership, which provides a lot of ability in any entrepreneurial field where you can show off your talents. You may perform well under pressure but you are more sensitive than most people realize. You like to be recognized for the work you do, so praise motivates and ensures you continue your good work.

What you're not suited to

Should you be influenced by Get Rich Quick type schemes and believe that getting something for doing little work is the way to go, forget it. An aversion to hard work; i.e. laziness will pull you down so do not follow any line that offers little effort on your part. Should you become emotionally depressed from any work you are involved in, you may find your ability to communicate with those around you very difficult.

Even so, at times you may not always understand other people's points of view, therefore do not become engaged in any work or career line that does not pluck your heart strings. To finish off this section, becoming involved in too much socializing can easily interfere with your work and your life, and make sure you take care of your diet as this is another area that can pull you down over time.

What to be aware of Laziness; taking risks without checking first, make sure you listen so that you understand what other people are communicating to you, and ensure they are completely aware of what you are saying to them. Take your time to do things properly as your job is to construct, and therefore the old saying; "haste makes waste", applies to you.

What motivates you

You are an independent thinker, savor new ideas and you have a creative mind with an interest, even a passion to overcome obstacles or problems by simply thinking them through. You enjoy doing things under your own steam and this is good as long as you have the experience to support your entrepreneurial projects. You have inner strength and determination.

Your original ideas may come to you after you take time out, allowing you to think during quiet periods. This is a mental exercise that has and will serve you well throughout your life. It is sometimes during these quiet times, even when you lay down to sleep, that you enjoy the ideas that come forth from the places you cannot go to during the busy hours of the day.

Your success will come from you following your passions, and these are related directly to artistic lines of endeavour, creative thinking, proactive with your emotional ideas and the way in which you like everything you do to be perfect, or at least try to be.

You have an impulsive side to you and enjoy the company of other thinkers, but you will discover, these people are few and far between, than in abundance, so you will have to associate with those you find in like type industries, whatever it is your chose to pursue.

Your traits

You are strong willed and determined who gains respect from those who know you. Others will follow your lead as you seem to know what to do and are not afraid to get things done whatever the circumstance. You do not tolerate weakness in yourself and can be hard on those having a weak disposition, or that lean on you, or others for courage. You have no real fear, nor do you cower if criticized by people, not outwardly anyway, but you are more sensitive than you like to show on your face but you cover it well, hence you can make a good team leader.

You have fine management skills but you must have self control or you can become very domineering. You are susceptible to taking risks and this is fine as long as you have done your homework and not simply jumped at some new idea or offer. In such cases, all it takes is the will to do anything that may entail risk and then learn what is required. In fact, you enjoy doing this as it provides the thrill of experience that may not be gained in other ways.

You need experience with "how to deal with people" at any level of undertaking or you can become very domineering and be seen as a bully based on your reactions to the frustrations others can bring. Under extreme pressure, you may clam up and go completely silent. This gives rise to potential, and radical, reactions which will come as a surprise by others. It is wise to know your own limitations and understand where or what your boundaries are. You believe your way is often the best and don't like to be forced into anything you are not comfortable with. You're a little bit of a psychologist too and this gives you an edge of insight into people, of how they may think.

The way you apply yourself

You have strong management capabilities and excellent organisational skills. This places you amongst those who supervise, direct and control. You are very able of taking charge and you're ambitious, energetic, efficient, and make good judgment calls. These abilities give you authority and position in the social and business worlds. You have courage and the energy to keep going even under pressure.

You will do well in applying your talents in any area where a mind for detail, along with the ability to direct and manage others under your guide, and to see the bigger picture of anything you're involved in.

With this kind of energy and responsibility in your dealings with others, it is very important that you understand the importance of mental and physical balance. You have characteristics that enable you to master the most challenging problems and could easily support interests in commercial fields.

Sometimes you may strain and think too much about money. This is the wrong approach to your success where finance is concerned. You are less likely to attract long term earnings if it is the buck you're chasing. Focus on doing the work and the money will flow. Do not push for too long either, but take the time to do things well. Making money your primary objective rather than getting the task or project completed will bring challenges to defeat your progress. For you, money is a reward for effort done and not the primary goal.

How life is influencing you presently

This period is one for personal development. It represents knowledge and understanding of the deeper meaning of life which is not seen on the surface. Educational studies, scientific interests, specialization of your talents for outstanding use and recognition should be cultivated. It is time for you to investigate things in a specialized way where the desire to outgrow old associations will be felt. If your attitude is negative, an introverted nature may bring about withdrawals from other people and a feeling of repression causing problems with family and personal relationships may arise.

Negative states of mind can develop and complexes may cause you to try and understand what life is all about. Even though money at times may seem limited and not what you had hoped for, but your knowledge and skill will bring you success and financial rewards if you apply yourself, to better your situation.

The grass may seem greener on the other side of the fence, and if you begin to feel this, seek knowledge and education instead of an escape into unsure fields. Watch your diet and health matters. Have faith, be honest and live right. It is not necessarily a strong time for relationships, but when knowledge, training, and understanding have been attained, this period can bring you a fine reward and the power to attract all things, even love. Make contact with others interested in educational and the scientific fields.

Lessons life provides you to grow stronger with

At times there are periods where you feel you are being pushed to learn in a manner that is uncomfortable or goes against the way you believe and think. To develop your weaknesses into tools of strength, you must make an effort to dig in and work on your thought processes to understand why and where you feel a resistance with any aspect of your life that just seems to bring repeated lessons, over and over again.

There will be times when you feel you're being put under test, and you start to believe you're being repressed. Pride comes before a fall and so it is up to you to control any emotional frustrations, and use common sense, and then realise the benefits that change makes in such areas where you find resistance to your development.

Problems you experience may have something to do with the past where you keep suppressing old issues because you may feel embarrassed about some event. You should know what is real and what is not, so spend a little time reviewing and re-assessing matters that may have, or still do annoy you based on a former false beliefs and realise you have the power to overcome all mental and emotional blocks to the level of the understanding you develop. Seek the truth and it will set your mind free.

You may want for material, even emotional things in the present. Be careful as what you are not ready for, can bring you the things you may soon regret, including financial stress, so it is good that you become aware of this weakness. Everything you need is there for the taking once you have learned to position yourself in a place and time where you are prepared to receive it, whatever 'it' may be. Gaining more knowledge in specialised fields are where many of your attributes for success lie;

How you're likely feeling this year

This is a demanding period of your life and it brings many things for you to manage. There is a great deal of opportunity to develop a wide range of business activities. These matters need to be dealt with and gotten rid of, as they will otherwise hinder your progress so if anything needs to be sold, ended or moved on from, now is the time to do so.

Because of your influential nature, you can turn seemingly negative situations into positive ones by having an overall appreciation of any project and can see what needs to be done so that all are considered, not just your associates within your immediate industry. During this time, many different experiences will take place and there will be opportunities in business, or where people are concerned. This is possible at every level. The possibility of money and material wealth are within your reach so look for advantages and if money is lost, more can be gained.

Legal matters may enter into your life if honesty is lacking. Arguments may bring lawsuits and these can be drawn out. This is not a time for self interests or indulgence. Make sure your principles and morals are well established and tolerance and compassion are kept in the forefront.

Circumstantial affects this year

There may be many things you are involved with this year that affect your personal or working life or even that of friends and associates, but one thing is for sure, there is a closure of sorts that you will need to address before the year is done.

Based on your circumstances, and irrespective of what you are doing, something this year will need to be dealt with and finalized. This may or may not be to your personal liking, but whatever it is, it will arrive on your doorstep and you will have to handle it.

This is not a bad thing, it is a necessary moment of your life and it is important you look at this matter with a clear and steadfast mind so that you see the reason for what it is and do not let your heart play too much of a role in the event or events otherwise you may not have the best results that life is offering you during this years experiences.

Be considerate and have feelings for others during this time. You may think the whole thing is happening to you, but generally if not always, the affairs and life experiences of others will be affected in the same if not a similar fashion to yourself. Life will look after you the way it is meant to be and you can certainly profit from this year if you are prudent and have open eyes.

General indicators for your year

This year brings many matters to a conclusion, completion, and the fulfillment of some of your dreams. You are in a closing cycle of experience, one that began nine years ago, leading to a new beginning next year. The period may bring feelings of failure or sorrow if there is disharmony with loved ones, but in reality, the year opens the way to opportunities and new interests in life and the time is right for this to happen.

During the year, be willing to let go of old situations that are brought to your attention, to make way for new and worthwhile things. If something you love seeks the desire to go, do your best to understand, and be compassionate, for if you try to hold on, you may experience degrees of suffering until you accept the inevitable. Be tolerant and forgiving and then you will find this one of the most wonderful years of your life.

The beginning of the year may seem fine till February steps up to the mark. Often times, there will be an unexpected matter brought to your attention if you have not been listening to what has been going on around you, and you may be left wondering what you are going to do. You may feel alone or held back and unable to keep things moving forward in a steady manner. May through September, you might find your interests growing away from some of your former activities and unconsciously turn your thoughts to things that have not been a part of your life before.

Personal matters will hold your attention throughout, and you may find you are involved whether you like it or not, and in the midst of this, you may even be involved helping others straighten out their problems; as this is a year of impersonal thought and feeling, and what you do for others, you will gain from. Accept what comes to you, but until October or November you may not see the way clearly and may have to go with the changes as they unfold. Take time out in July to help improve your health, and by the end of the year, you will feel better about the way things have turned out.

During the year, as mentioned earlier, there will be endings, conclusions, something to give up, or move on from, even people in your life that are holding you back. It is a sort of clearing period to give you space to move and grow into next year. There will be a new outlook, and glimpse of the future with less duty and more time for relaxation and a sense of inner satisfaction. While the year clears up many old problems, you will be tested for tolerance and you may have to deal with a personal relationship or that of someone close. You may experience the passing of a relative, or have to leave a place where you live or work. Have courage to let go, it's one of your lessons this year. There may be a little uncertainty about how things will turn out, but in hindsight you will understand that it was for the better.

Feelings of frustration and "what's-the-use" sentiments may arise now and then, and it would be better to take the time out needed to rest in any such moments, especially where your emotions rise to the surface and seem to occupy your mind. At such times, seek out new friends, as you may be very surprised what unfolds. Enjoy Christmas, it will be good for you, and next year, things will be much brighter than you thought.

Month by month

January

All during this month you will start thinking and you may feel uncertain about your personal future. You are likely to have a desire for change and to be more settled, but it will take time to bring the reward the year promises. Think back 'nine' years ago and recall what events took place then and understand there are matters you need to attend to if you don't like what you remember.

There are many ends in sight, threads to be tied together and some cut off to bring you the real freedom the year plans for you. Keep all fear under control, for impulse or too much personal feeling could bring unwarranted problems. Communication matters now more than ever and keep things under control by having compassion, understanding and be transparent. Review your life during the past 'eight' years and choose what you would like to keep. Emotions will play a big part in your life over the months ahead so it is up to you to make sure that this new year is full of good things and not short lived excitement.

Be efficient and do not neglect the things at hand. January may seem like a new beginning in some way and as mentioned you will be doing a lot of thinking and making plans regarding old conditions, although the future may be part of them. The month indicates the need to reorganize for better understanding and there will be a new realization regarding an association and a lesson of compassion may be learned because of the necessities of the moment. There may be a few fears and doubts but you will find this a vital month, a signpost before the storm.

February

The month may bring the unexpected, things you had not planned and you will have to keep your head clear, and put your heart aside for the time being so you can manage matters efficiently without rose coloured glasses. You will be in the midst of a great deal of activity during this month and you may seek assistance through others, so keep your mind open and help may come out of the blue.

Keep your faith of the good Life provides. Plans will move slowly for the time being and you will be involved in the affairs of others, and must consider others to get what you want. Keep cheerful and be a little careful of what you say in too serious a manner, as there is an undercurrent of annoyance through what others do and you can be hurt quite unexpectedly. You may even find it hard to talk to those most concerned because you think something is unfair. Do not take this too seriously, for it may not be important, simply something which catches you emotionally off guard.

Consult someone outside of the situation and get good advice. Do not try to work things out entirely on your own. Patience and tact are needed at this time. Say little, as the month will show you the trend of events for the year ahead. It is not likely you can manage or direct activities entirely on your own. There is a lot of responsibility present and it is up to you to express your position diplomatically and be willing to cooperate, to get the best results.

March

After the events of last month, you will be more able to do what you need to and get on with things in a way without so much interference from others. An idea or some inspiration and help through friends should give your feelings a lift too. Old friends you have not seen for some time may reconnect and give you encouragement. There is still the possibility of a slight annoyance through friends and relatives. Remember this is your year for tolerance and compassion at all times.

You will be conscious of the desire to be done with an old association all year and at the same time you're likely to be aware that old conditions have changed or are changing. Put your thoughts into what you are doing for others, as well as yourself. You have the right to be open and honest, but don't be careless, as events to unfold before the year is done must be kept in mind or waited for.

During the month, a new interest may come through a friend or a line of work or study which will give you an opportunity to pave the way to do something that gives you new interests and inspiration in some way. This will be a relief of some sort, almost like a holiday, and some of the recent difficulties may fade from your mind for the time being. Any criticism from people should not be taken too seriously. Go ahead with what you think is right for you. The activities of others may bring your emotions out and you should keep a level head.

April

April is a practical month and will bring facts to the surface. You are likely to be forced to face economic and personal conditions in a very definite manner. This could be due to your work, property and personal life. You will already know you cannot go on in the old way. You will be faced with practical considerations and may consider a move or change of residence.

Even though you may feel annoyed and slightly discouraged, there is an opportunity present to rearrange your business and emotional affairs that have needed adjustment for some time. Concentrate on getting results and be willing to do what is necessary even if results are not just what you had hoped for. Matters having to do with property, legal papers, and agreements call for the best possible management and good judgment on your part; make no mistakes here as there is good tiding for you if you are clear about everything that you are doing and what needs to be done.

Work done now should form a basis for progress during the next few months. Now however, may seem almost too practical and a little more demanding than you were prepared for. You may feel alone or entirely on your own with no inspiration and so you could turn from one plan to another, uncertain which way to go. In the end you should find the opportunity to do what you desire, even though more planning and time will be needed. This is a busy month, and financial your interests must be considered.

Avoid becoming impatient and do not allow any emotional unrest, to interfere with good common sense. This is not a time to take any risks without looking at possible outcomes. This month will be a lucky one, or very unlucky depending on what you do.

May

As a result of the practical arrangements of last month, you should find yourself very busy, active and in the middle of changes you have been expecting during the previous few months. You may even be getting a little excited over the pending new situations and experiences. Now is a time to move forward and many events through circumstance will take place that will guide you to move ahead with a better feel about everything.

Even though plans are starting to get underway, everything may not be clear as to what the outcome will be. Time is still a consideration. Go ahead with determination and keep in mind the fact that this month is the time to be up and going and to make changes as the need arises. This is only the preparation time of the year, and life may not be able to bring about the results you seek until October and November have come into play. However, do not be hasty.

Avoid arguments and disagreements, for they could upset and disrupt any plans you have made. May could be very exciting, with less responsibility to manage things and more time for personal growth. You will see where you're headed, although you may have an inner uncertainty about several things, but this is the time to take action for the future if you have not already done so. Family, associates, and loved ones, may give rise to problems as you assess your situation. There is also the possibility of some rearrangement of your former plans, but even so, this is a good time to get things underway and move forward.

June

February through June will be a period of transition with many adjustments made relative to things of the past. You may question, or become curious about the reasons why this year has come about, and of the way in which things have unfolded, mixing the past with the future. Now and then a sense of pointlessness may crop up because you are anxious to know what to do. Time is still needed, for the tide has not yet fully turned, as there are affairs of the home and family that demand your attention and time.

There might even be a sacrifice necessary and this will finally show the trend of events. At times during this year you may feel a lack of vitality so keep your health up to par. Many nice things can come your way this month and you can receive help, money and assistance in a good way.

There is little to be gained all year long by forcing issues with anyone. Should you try to push for results, it might cause delays and you could realise disappointment and wish you had waited. However, satisfaction as to how things have turned out should be realised. You will wonder if it is all worthwhile, because you have given so much, but there is little to be gained by being emotional or giving up. There may be a conclusion of a situation or a person going out of your circle, but there is a need for you to help someone this month and this could be pleasing for you.

July

This is probably the deepest month of the year and during this time you should find more time to be on your own, to reflect and ponder on life, and where you are going, what is going on with you and you may even analyse and do some self appraisal.

July should free you from much of the duty and responsibility of the past few months. This being the result of the adjustment regarding home and property, even any business or commerce ventures of last month. Surprisingly, you may feel alone and not sure of what you want to do, this is when reflection is crucial for you, ensuring you investigate all of your options and examine your past. This may be just the time to take a quiet trip, and get away for a while to gain a new outlook on future interests.

The whole year for you, is to tidy up matters, and much has taken place to clear away the past. You are in an in between time, maybe you are working out just what you are going to do, as you are not quite sure. Always aim to be upbeat, and smile, fake it until you make it, if necessary and things will get better.

You will be deeply conscious in your mind and heart that you are finished with someone or something, and this has possibly been brewing for some time, and maybe you've been putting off or not seeing what was right in front of you. The way to the future and what you want to do will still not fully show just yet or at least you may realise you cannot act upon it presently. Your thinking is undergoing a radical change at this point. What you think about others and life in general. This is all soon to be transformed when the way finally opens up, and you can move ahead again.

You will feel that old contacts are at an end and new interests are not too far off, but for now, rest and relax, study and think quietly to yourself. This is the time when you mind your own business and let other people work out their own problems. Your attention to your health during this month is also part of your thinking processes. You may find that you are not up to your best and feel out of sorts. This is a good reason for you to take time out to rest and to get away from people and the crowd for a while.

Have faith in yourself and your life, this is your shot at it, and what you do today will sow the seeds for the next nine years. If this is your test in life, then take it willingly and improve yourself to make your life a better one. Do not be too busy to take time out for yourself because of other people or relatives who make demands on you. Do what you can for other people, but not at your own expense. Let go of anything that wants to get away, it will only drag you down.

August

August brings a lot of activity for your attention. This is the time where money will be changing hands, buying and selling, shifting locations whether it is business or personal.

This is where you need to take control over your own associations, the need to redirect affairs, finances and relationships with others. There is a business influence present and you are likely to be asked to give some of your time to consideration and analysis of a business opportunity or undertaking.

During this period it is imperative that you use good judgment and do not allow personal sentiment to affect you. Be businesslike and take hold of your dealings, and you should be tidying up unfinished business or activities to clear the way for the future.

Do not become involved in other peoples love affairs or embattled relationships, these will take your precious time away from your own course of action. If you must, give advice but do not get emotionally attached, for this is one of the times when you need to be strong and secure. Even in your own exciting affairs be wise and lay foundations upon which you face the future.

This is a business month and you are suitable to spend some time in analyzing matters relative to the future. Any undertakings may be a necessary steppingstone to help others as well as yourself.

Legal documentation may come up again at this time, and should be adjusted for final settlement. Make sure all is in order, so things will be tidied up sooner rather than later. Money may not be too easy but negotiations are going on with the various plans present toward improvement, and things concealed will be brought to light.

September

September is the time where the results, planning and execution of the past months will show. If you have been diligent and followed your plans then all should be roses for you, if not, then you should be on full alert. This is where the pinnacle of the year arrives, the apex of all your projects. Things will all begin to materialize and you will discover sometime during this month what you have been seeking all year long.

You can go ahead now with more determination, and what you want to do should be clear and certain. However, for the next three months, the final months of this closing cycle, you may find that you are marking time, conscious of a few disappointments, or at least you might feel some sorrow for what you have given up or finished, even though the necessity was there.

Life is now moving forward and you should plan for the future and make ready to meet a new life, new interests, with a stepping up of your ambitions. There will be new opportunities and a new outlook on life, just around the corner.

You may well be surprisingly emotional, doing much soul searching and much thinking and remembering, but the past must be put behind you in order that the new may be open and clear.

This has not been an ordinary year, but one of drama, feeling, colour, experience, emotional, even loss, that has required much of you to be understanding and giving. It has not been and is not now time to be selfish or personal. This is the time where you keep on moving forward and do not dwell on the past.

While all the previous months may seem like an emotional see saw, keep positive and see your glass is half full as opposed to half empty. Be grateful for what you have and "Take care".

October

You may be feeling a sense of relief and perhaps release during this month and you will know what you are going to do, and should be busy about it in many ways.

October is the time where moving forward is the only really good option you have. Holding on to the past, whether it be old projects or associations, business or personal that have no more relevance for you, will be detrimental for your well being.

New interests, new associations, and something helpful and beneficial through others are present. You might even be in a different association or environment. This is a new start and it is possible you may also be marking time, while plans develop because others have something to say or are in charge, so cooperate willingly during this time.

Use this time to keep yourself healthy and fit, resting regularly, for this year of emotional endings seem to suck your energy levels and you may feel depleted, and physically worn down. Your growth during this time is in your compassion and willingness to do internal, mental and material house cleaning, so you can move into the next phase of your life with a clean slate.

Enjoy life and prepare quietly for the future until January. Next year will be just the opposite from this year. This year, life takes hold, but next year you must take hold and get things done, so enjoy the remainder of this year.

Right now, mutual benefit is the keynote of the month, giving and receiving from others or someone in particular. The year should end with special interests, and on the whole be very good. So take the time to be thankful for all that you have achieved, the lessons learnt, they have helped model you into the person you are today.

November

November is here and the wind of the year has gone from your sails. Take time to stop, think and reflect on everything that has gone on around you, and just sit tight. This may be an interesting time, associating and communicating with others, and you may even be dependent upon others to rally round you, help lift your spirits and be there for you, while you wait for time to clear the way.

Your health and the state of your mind should be part of your focus right now. This will include some kind of exercise program, even if you are simply going for a walk, this will help clear the layers of fog that seem to hang over you at this time.

Take this month patiently and without undue stress, and quietly hold to your plans and desires, even though it may seem to you that others test your patience, trying to force you against your will. They do not completely understand where your thinking is at, and this is where communication is a necessity.

You are at the end of a closing cycle, so be like Spock from Star Trek and be logical in your thinking. I will until, will be your new motto, and even though there is much going on under the surface, time will reveal all.

Overall for you, November should be generally pleasant, even quiet for you, waiting for new ideas to evolve while someone helping or sharing your interests could be of assistance. You may meet old friends and renew old acquaintances, so take this time to enjoy, because next year will rock for you.

December

December has rolled around, and strangely enough you should have a happy and joyful Christmas. This will really be up to you, your positive thinking, and affirmative energy. This is what will create the Christmas that you have.

This is really a holiday month, the time to do pleasurable things, be around people that you trust, and that inspire you. Take time to go away with friends or family if this is what you would like to do. If you choose to wallow in self pity and feel that the whole world is against you, then that will be so. The attitude and feelings of this month is entirely up to you and what you do.

This will be the last month where you can sit back, chill, enjoy yourself, by doing just what you want, as next month you will get busy. So take the time to re energize yourself, get out there and celebrate the holiday period and have fun.

If you desire to take a trip for a change of scenery, or just for the hell of it, do so, but join with friends that you trust. Be creative and constructive and help others to enjoy life, as there is much to gain in the way of friendship and pleasure, and giving to others.

Opportunities may present themselves for you this month, with the ability to express your talents and capabilities in pleasant and fortunate ways. Discussions, social gatherings and seminars may prove interesting and lead to further conversation.

Just before you enter the New Year, you should be ready to take a step forward, leave the past behind you, and move toward a more permanent plan for building your future, now that so much is cleared up and settled. Enjoy yourself at this time and keep moving on-wards and upwards.

Continuing into 2017

This year should be like a breath of fresh air and will be full of new opportunities for you to make some good decisions or choices, that will affect you over the next nine years. This year will likely bring an unsettled series of events but the need or sensation to progress yourself and get on with a new career or alternative life options, will influence your mind. This is normal right now, at every level of your existence. Nothing remains the same for any length of time otherwise progress would slow to a stop, and so would your personal development.

If you do not feel any need of change for yourself, at least become aware of the adjustments or variations taking place from your surroundings, and or environment. There may be matters needing attention that are overdue and in need of tidying up or completing. Should you do nothing, you may be surprised that circumstance has acted for you. It is advisable to overhaul your way of living. Make an effort to put your best into action.

Take up new interests or activities that will add life to your situation and broaden your general outlook. The events this year are not unnecessarily world shaking nor do they completely change all that you are doing, unless you want them to, or plan for them, but they do indicate that now is the time for improvement, advancement and for you to get a grip on your undertakings. This new cycle is a push forward and to prevent you from getting into a rut. People unconsciously begin to grow old or let themselves become depressed when they fail to recognise this 'beginning again' phase, and Life then slowly passes them by.

Be determined if you have new plans and desires but move forward wisely and consider all undertakings carefully, as they can only work out gradually as the months of the year pass by. The year might seem like you're at a crossroad and you may find yourself standing between the past and the future. Look ahead and take a stand, do not be impulsive, for there are many decisions to be made, month by month before you can fully accomplish what you started to do when the year began, now is the time to reach out for new opportunities.

This year is not an overly easy one, it is very active and there will be many decisions to make. Other people will be involved and there will be things to take care of before any final plans begin to be formed. It is only when you try to hold onto old situations and possessions that unexpected things can disrupt your present way of life. This is a year of renewed opportunity and to keep life moving forward, so make your activities worthwhile for others as well as yourself.

During the early months of the year it is advisable not to be too hasty or impulsive. Progress depends on you and your ideas, but others must be considered. You may think at times you are being held back, but this year is good for planning, so during the first part of the year, family or associates could demand your time and attention when you want to be doing other things, so take this in your stride to avoid any resentment, as worry or strain could affect your health. Take time out during June to think things over, seek advice and listen to your 'gut feel', as ideas may need time to fully surface. This is not a time to force matters. Results will begin to form from August onward, and by December, you should be more involved and working on any ideas and plans the year has provided you.

January

The month marks the beginning of a new 9 year cycle of your life. The whole year will be peppered with opportunities that the past months have denied you and you are likely feeling the weight of the previous 12 months starting to lift from your shoulders, so this is a time for starting or looking at new projects and possibly a new career. Keep your eyes open and your mind alert to potential advantages or openings coming your way.

The time is right to tidy up any loose ends not dealt with over the past months, maybe even years, and it is time to take stock or make a check list of what needs to be dealt with or just dumped from your life. If past burdens are not managed and dealt with soon, matters will be brought to your doorstep and you will have to revisit things all over again, slowing things down and hindering any serious attempts to get moving.

There will be thoughts about your improvement and your way of living, but this is a time to pace yourself and not rush into anything. It is time to move forward and let go of the past. However, your cooperation is required rather than to try and push or force issues during the month. You may still feel unsettled for some months as the importance this year has for you will not be fully realised until September and October have rolled over. Right now, take care of details and be tight with your finances. Listen to your head at this time and not your passions. Be patient and let the month go by as quietly as you can.

February

Good news. This month will be more active than last and you should anticipate a livelier atmosphere and a feeling of wanting to get up and get going will be on your mind.

Last month you may have begun some new project or direction but not much will have progressed to the stage where you thought they might be and perhaps they may not eventuate further. It might be that you need to cut them from your plans or they could drag you down.

There may be a bright idea or two that may cross your mind and seem like a good opportunity, but take care that all your bases are covered, for if things are not right and in order where the interests of others are concerned, disruptions may arise. It is quite possible you may be asked, or have a need to make decisions affecting your emotions, or even those of others.

It is worth your while to listen and be compassionate about other people's problem or issues, but make note, it is their problem and they have to work it through, and you may end up taking the blame for things if you become too involved, so be careful.

The month will call for decisions or matters relating to you having to communicate on a variety of levels. Do not allow yourself to be tied up in knots or become frustrated with any small issues, treat most things with the attention they deserve and no more. This year is about your future, so be light hearted and look for the benefits that will support your endeavors, and if you act tactfully, everyone will benefit and a good month will eventuate.

March

March is a month where you will find you have to apply yourself, get in and work hard and become involved with everything you do. There may a new problem to overcome and you will have to consider carefully, what to do, so make sure you allow for any changes to your plans where necessary but keep focused and on track.

This is an important month where time well spent now, and by sticking to your plans, you will add strength to you future. For now, you must know where you are going and how you will achieve things. In many ways, LUCK is on your side if you are diligent and take no uncalculated risks. Work hard and win.

You may have to deal with a personal matter or a past situation that makes things difficult for you, requiring your time and effort. Just apply yourself to what has to be done, be smart, take no risks, and do not lose sight of your goals once they are in place. Do not let anyone steer you in another direction nor alter any important plans so much so that they detract you from your desired outcomes, then you will gain results from your efforts and the opportunity to do what you want later on.

Take care of your health, with reference to your diet if necessary, and make time to rest. Being over anxious will not change anything, in fact you may end up making a mountain out of a molehill, and realizing later you really did not need to worry after all. However, this is not a time for dreaming, it is a time for getting things done.

April

April will provide opportunity to get on with things. Now is when you can put your plans into action. It will be a busy month so use the available energy to get things moving and make the most of it.

This is a good time to surge ahead; a progressive attitude to what you are working on is the main key to success in April. Last month may have been a more practical and routine period, but now you should be more able to do that you could not give your attention to before.

Changes may be on the agenda in your living or working conditions. New people, contacts and interests, open the door to opportunity so keep your eyes open and look for the openings. This is a time to meet and greet new clients or to entertain ideas and establish yourself in the market place. If the door opens for some light travel, take it.

Be prepared for anything new and unexpected that might test your ability to adapt, but will bring out your resourcefulness. Legal or important matters may arise from the past and you should give careful consideration to this as it can be to your advantage if you are thinking straight. Open your mind for progress, make any changes to your thinking, your home and your associations, as this is a forward moving month.

May

This month requires, and in some way makes demands on you, to be more responsible and to manage your duties at home and with any business matters you may have. Even those close to you, your family and friends, need your consideration and understanding during May. Do not try to sidestep anyone that may need your help, as the needs they have will soon pass and you will benefit from your helpfulness.

May will bring feelings of wanting to get up and go and the light is green and you should be entertaining the idea of pushing ahead with plans. There are many things to consider, so have a schedule in place and get moving, but it is important you stick to your list and execute each matter in a timely manner as this will ensure things are accomplished on time.

Being fair and reasonable between those you love or work with will bring good results. In business matters, more will be achieved through compromise and a willingness to adjust, than through forcefulness or self interest. Your plans may need some tweaking but all should be going along fairly well if you follow the rules.

June

You will find June, the time where you will reflect and think about what has been happening over the past months. Even so, you will be kept busy by all the responsibility sent your way, to manage and work on. It might feel to you that your plans are going nowhere fast, but the year has provided green lights for you and lots of opportunities have already presented themselves and you may be wondering if you did the right thing, or if you are headed in the right direction, maybe making the same mistakes as before. This being the case, just know that these concerns are timely and you will be fine.

If you can, get away for a while to rest and relax; this would be helpful and by doing this you will gain rather than trying to push matters and getting frustrated. Be determined, as deep inside of you, you know what should, and what can be done. Find time for reading and research, think things through, take time out, and refrain from talking too much or making pressing demands on those around you.

Any form of study, or looking into ideas that give you stimulation and motivate you is an excellent activity this month. Your state of mind is very important at this time and it is up to you to meet any financial obligations and responsibilities as they come up, otherwise your need for clear thinking may be clouded. Take care of your eating habits and engage in light exercise. This will help you to clear any foggy mental blocks.

July

During July you will need to take hold of your plans and act in a more determined and serious manner. This is the time to push forward with regard to your ideas and ambitions. Good judgment on your part is essential and you should be clearer in your mind after the time you spend thinking and deliberating last month.

This is the month where you may possibly buy or sell, take a trip, or even move house. Action and good management are the keys to your success in July and very little will be gained by drifting and waiting. Get on and do those things you have been thinking about doing and push for results.

Action will cause you to feel more confident and you should not consider looking back. You may feel strain over money matters, but it pays to focus on your goals, and smile even if it feels fake, for if you keep your head, are efficient and a good manager, you will succeed. A feeling you have made good inroads may arise, and this will be directly the result of a good action plan.
